

CE Marking of Air Terminal devices

Currently there is no EC Directive, European Technical Assessment or harmonised European standard relating to Air Terminal Devices. Therefore, Waterloo Air Products does not have, need to have or is permitted to have CE markings on their products.

Waterloo Air Products produces products to the customer's specific requirements therefore it is not possible to apply any other standards to the products, such as Kitemark. Although they will be made in accordance to the relevant EN standards for Air Terminal Products, also the material used is produced to the relevant EN standard.

Designs have been proven in the Waterloo test lab or by a third party test house, to ensure that the products perform as required, this test data is available in the brochure for all standard products.
